DINED AT HOTEL ASTOR

Bradford County Society of New York's Annual Meeting.

SPEECHES AND THE SPEAKERS

Congressman Mial E. Lilley of This Place Was the Guest of Honor—Simeon Ford, the Noted Afterdinner Speaker, Gave Toast.

The Bradford County Society of New York City held its second annual banquet at the Hotel Astor on Thursday evening of last week, on which occasion 160 people were seated at the tables. Hon. Mial E. Lilley, who is now the representative of the old "Wilmot District" in congress, was the guest of honor on this occasion, and Liston L. Lewis, formerly of Canton but now one of the rising attorneys of the great metropolis, presided as toastmaster.

There were about thirty citizens of Bradford county who joined their friends of the city at the banquet, and the reunions were both pleasant and enjoyable, but likewise much appreciated by those who many years ago had left their native county to make their fortunes in New York. Among those who went down from Towanda were Congressman Lilley, Prothonotary Wilt, B. T. Hale, Ed. Carter, Jr., J. Monroe Ayers, Hon. Louis Piollet, Leo Wilt, W. E. Dayton, A. Carl Fanning, C. P. Welles and E. B. McKee.

The Toasts.

After a social session, dinner was served in the banquet hall, after which the toastmaster called upon all to drink a toast to the president of the United States, which was done standing. Mr. Lewis was very felicitous in introducing the speakers, the first of whom was the guest of honor. Mr. Lilley was very happy in his response, expressing his appreciation at the honor thrust upon him, and magnanimously promised that every person present should have a postoffice, if he could get it for them. In the course of his remarks he referred to the fact that while New York City has been going forward, and the inland towns have been progressing, the farming interests of not only Bradford county but the entire east have been standing still, if not actually declining. He felt that something should be done to bring into these farming districts some of the emigrants now coming to the United States who are settling upon farms in the west, as only in that way could agriculture in the east be reclaimed. The cities are now drawing the best of the young blood from the country, and if something is not done soon, the supply will soon be cut off almost entirely. In closing, he expressed his appreciation of the justice of the laws against adulteration of food products, and only hoped that something might be done whereby the adulteration might be squeezed out of the stocks and bonds that the wily city chaps sold to the unsuspecting countrymen.

Hon. Louis T. Hoyt, of Athens, was the next speaker, his toast being the "Bradford County Bar." He spoke somewhat at length of his efforts to convince his colleagues at Harrisburg that Bradford was the greatest county in the state, and expressed the opinion that the Bradford County bar was the ablest in the commonwealth of Pennsylvania—in the opinion of its own members, at least. Certain it is that the opinions of the late Chief Justice Mercur of the Supreme court are cited with the greatest confidence, and he as well as David Wilmot, were from the native county.

Simeon Ford Spoke.

The third speaker was Simeon Ford, the proprietor of the Grand Union hotel, who a few years ago, made fame for himself at a banquet given by the hotel men of New York, who forced him on the program for a speech. He is a tall man, with a short cropped full beard of a reddish brown variety that effectually covers whatever of expression there may be underneath, and he made that first speech in so able a manner, that any and every day that he is willing to spring another there is an open door for him. His wit is of the purest and most wholesome kind, and no man can anticipate what is coming next. His toast was "When Reuben Comes to Town," and from his standpoint behind the hotel desk Reuben is an individual the gold brick man is always glad to see, although an occasional Reuben, after getting a week's board has the game down pat enough so that the hotel man always after has something coming to him. Mr. Ford had apparently had some dealings with "Reuben" Pomeroy, who is prominently identified with the First National Bank of New York, and expressed regret that "Reuben's" modesty prompted him to take a back seat, instead of being on the platform with "the wax works."

Sloat Fassett's Remarks.

Hon. J. Sloat Fassett, of Elmira, was the next speaker. While not a Bradford county man, his father was born in the western part of the county, at what is now known as Fassetts, and he mentioned particularly the good dinners he used to have at his grandfather's, everything upon the table being a product of the farm. Mr. Fassett is now serving his freshman year in Congress, being a classmate of Mr. Lilley, and he told the people that Mr. Lilley's promise about postoffices was one that he could not keep. Mr. Fassett kept on what he felt was surer ground, and promised that every member of the Bradford County Society who would mention the matter to him, should be provided with a bountiful supply of garden seeds.

Rev. James McLeod followed with some pleasing and interesting remarks, and cracked one or two good stories. He was a college classmate of John E. Fox, formerly of Towanda, and is now a Presbyterian pastor in Scranton.

Hon. Louis Piollet was the next speaker, and he supplemented the suggestion of Mr. Lilley concerning the agricultural interests by expressing the opinion that the taxes in Pennsylvania are oppressive, and that farm property is unjustly taxed—paying far more than its fair proportion of the expenses of the government. Could this be remedied by proper legislation, the condition of the farmers would be materially enhanced.

The County Press.

E. B. McKee responded to the sentiment, "Bradford County Press." In the course of his remarks he referred to the evolution of country journalism, and the growth of the local dailies in their own home fields. He did not for a minute believe the weekly paper was passing, but that it would continue to be a welcome visitor in thousands of homes so long as time lasts. He mentioned the Bradford Argus as the oldest paper in Bradford county continuously published under one name, and gave that paper credit for issuing the first daily in the county—it being published by Elijah A. Parsons for two weeks in 1863. Speaking of the circulation of a country weekly, he said that every name on its lists outside of the county, indicated that the reputation being made in New York city by men from Old Bradford, was being duplicated in almost every part of the civilized world, as everywhere one went a Bradford countian would be found.

The last speaker of the evening was Harry Davenport, the well known actor, who has spent many a Summer at Canton. He gave a pleasing character sketch of a young English lord.

The second annual dinner was a grand success, and the Hotel Astor is an ideal place for such an assemblage. As "Reuben" Carter expresses it, it is a fine hotel, and while it has many things about it that are not found in Bradford county, the Ward House has some things that are not found in the Hotel Astor.

LOCAL OPTION LAW.

Anti-Saloon League Floods Legislature With Petitions.

The campaign of the temperance people for a State local option law seems to have reached gigantic proportions, petitions and letters asking for this legislation pouring in upon senators and representatives in a perfect flood, says a dispatch from Harrisburg.

It is said that already more than 100,000 people have personally asked that the Berry local option bill be passed by the present legislature, while representatives of fully half a million people have officially taken action favoring the measure. This expression has been by petition, by letter, by personal interviews and by vote to public gatherings. Fully 60,000 voters have already signed petitions and the league fully expects to make good its agreement to secure over 100,000. Numerous public meetings are being held, presided over by public officials, politicians and representative men. The Anti-Saloon League people say that in a number of townships nearly every voter has been secured upon the petitions.

A hearing on the bill has been asked for and the league officials are getting impatient for the House law and order committee to find out from some body whether or not the request is to be granted.

Death of Infant.

The many frends of Mrs. Henry C. Ostler, nee Miss Rachael Corcoran, will be pained to learn of the death of her infant daughter at the home of Mrs. Ostler's parents at New Albany. The demise occurred on Monday. Mrs. Ostler came east from her home at Cripple Creek, Colo., to attend the funeral of her brother, Ivan Corcoran. Her child had been ill with measles and this was followed by congestion of the lungs.

Entertainment at Ulster.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church at Ulster are preparing to give a dramatic entertainment for the benefit of the church in the town hall on Friday evening, March 31. The play, "Aunt Hannah's Quilting Party," will be given by local talent, and the Towanda orchestra will furnish some excellent music.

NOTES OF GRANGES.

Items of Interest Contributed by Editor A. T. Lilley.

GRANGE DRAMATIC TROUPE.

(All communications to this column should be addressed to A. T. Lilley. LeRoy, Pa.)

Many Initiations Marked the Past Few Weeks—Columbia Has Flourishing Juvenile Grange—Memorials Should be Promptly Forwarded.

We are pleased to note that state lecturer A. M. Cornell has had a profitable trip to Clearfield county where he delivered fourteen public lectures and organized one new grange with twenty-five members.

On the 2nd and 3d inst., the drama troupe of Open Hand grange gave a fine rendering of the comedy, Topsy-Turvey, amusing and entertaining a full house at each meeting. The leaders of this troupe deserve much credit for their persistant effort to succeed in spie of sickness, bad weather, etc. The troupe consists of Mrs. H. T. Palmer, Mrs. R. A. Palmer, Miss May Kelley, Miss Mary Holcomb, Walter Rockwell, Ralph Blowers, Harvey Wright and Earl Tomlinson. A load of more than twenty were in attendance from the Towanda Valley grange.

A class of eight was initiated at Open Hand grange last Tuesday evening, and several reinstated. Visitors were present from Beech Flats and Towanda Valley granges. The lessons were rendered by the degree team and the hall was filled.

The report of Mrs. S. C. Moore of Columbia grange, Mrs. N. D. Snyder of Spring Hill and C. E. Green, is worthy of notice. "We appreciate the need among the children on the farm of some place and means of social development other than that found in the public school or Sunday-school. Our grange has come to the rescue and provided for the children just such a place in the juvenile grange. All children from the age of eight to 14 years are eligible to membership. They are under the charge of a competent sister, appointed by the mother grange, whose duty it is to see that their sessions are properly conducted according to parliamentary rules, and to their decorum during their intermission. We find by experience that these juvenile granges will also increase the attendance of the subordinate granges; many parents being compelled to remain at home with their little ones. Under the new order, the child accompanies the parent and is placed in the juvenile grange during the session of the subordinate. The juvenile grange bears the same relation to the grange that the Sunday school does to the church. What more enobling work could our order accompilsh than to grasp the opportunity offered and place the educating, refining influence around these children during these seven years which they are eligible to membership and at an age when their habits and characters for life are being formed." The state grange approved this report and we trust that many granges will strive to gain the benefits that may be obtained by carrying the ideas into practice.

As it sometimes happens that masters of granges are sick, away from home or so engaged in business affairs that they do not attend to memorials sent them for the granges to act upon, it is urged upon all patrons to see that the memorials on roads, townships, high schools, carrying of freight by trolley roads and tax equalization, be presented to the granges and that they be signed and forwarded to the state master, W. F. Hill, Chambersburg, Pa., at the very earliest moment.

It is not too early in the season for the members of each grange to prepare a contest that will put the grange in such condition that by the latter part of September many articles of superior merit might be secured for exhibition at the county fairs or at home grange fairs. Much good may arise from a strong effort along this line. We trust that many will wake up to the benefits that may be derived by a friendly rivalry in striving to prooduce the best of everything that grows on the farm. The one that gets the best, or perhaps the most, is quite sure to take the prize.

We see the state master asks for an addition of ten thousand members to the grange in the year 1905. He got the five thousand he asked for in 1903 and the seven thousand that he asked for in 1904, and now all should make an earnest effort to make the increase asked for this year. If each patron in Pomona district No. 23 gets one new member it will make a gain of one-fourth of the required number. This is what should be done, but at least a stronger effort should be made to bring all intelligent farmers and their families into the order. The more the farmers are united in effort the better it will be for them and all their neighbors; constant intelligent work, always doing something worth the doing is what attracts attention and sets other people to thinking, and then they join the workers.

"History repeats itself" appears to be as true in explorations for gas and oil as in any thing else. This is said because we learn that drilling is to be commenced in lower Catskill rocks, the age in which nearly all drilling for oil and gas has been sought for in Bradford county. The age is the same but the place is about one-half mile south of Towanda creek on M. R. Foster's farm, which is in LeRoy township just east of the Canton township line. At this point the drill will penetrate the northern edge of the basin or trough in which the South mountain is situated. The geological age is all right and only the drill can decide whether the other conditions are. The people hope for a more successful outcome than has been reported from other parts of the county.

DEATH OF MRS. STOLL.

Died at Home of Her Son at Orwell on Sunday.

Mrs. Mary M. Stoll died at the home of her son, J. C. Stoll, at Orwell on Sunday morning after an illness of several weeks from a complication of diseases. Her maiden name was Mary M. Roof and she was born in Sussex county, N. J., 79 years ago. She was married to W. E. Stoll of the same county. They came to Wysox township in 1867 and moved to Orwell in 1869. Mr. Stoll was killed in 1876 by a picket thrown from a saw.

Mrs. Stoll was a woman of estimable character, of a very retiring disposition. She is survived by one brother, James Roof of Franklindale, two sisters living in New Jersey and the following children: J. R. Stoll of Newton, N. J., S. A. Stoll of Rome township, J. C. Stoll of Orwell, and Mrs. Levi McCabe of North Rome.

Funeral services were held at the home of J. C. Stoll on Monday with interment at North Orwell.

Aerogram Station at Honesdale.

Honesdale is to have a wireless telegraph station. At least the publishers of The Independent believe so, for in a recent issue they make this statement:

Two gentlemen visited our town on Tuesday on an important mission, one of whom was a representative of the American-DeForest Wireless Telegraph company, whose purpose was the securing of a location at Honesdale for a wireless station. The Independent's building was selected as being the most suitable for the purpose of erecting on top of it a tower and also a house to contain operator and apparatus. Ere long Honesdale people will doubtless be sending and receiving many of their messages through the air.

Died at Sayre Hospital.

Mrs. Fred Kilmer died at the Robert Packer hospital at Sayre on Sunday morning after an operation for tumor. Seven years ago Mrs. Kilmer was operated on for appendicitis and since that time has been in poor health. She was 37 years old and besides her husband, is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Smith of Black, and a sister, Miss Louise Smith, also of that place.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock at the church at Black.

Arrested at Owego.

An Owego item of Saturday states that Michael Vincent was arrested for assault in the third degree on complaint of his wife, Lucy, who claims that he assaulted her Saturday night at the home of Ambrose Vincent, who is his father and lives near Owego. His wife claims that he has been arrested several times before upon the same charge, while they were living at Towanda. Vincent was committed to jail until Wednesday, when he was to come up for trial.

Eastern Bradford C. E. Union.

The thirty-first semi-annual convention of the Eastern Bradford Christian Endeavor Union will be held in the Congregational church, LeRaysville, on Friday, March 17. Morning session at 11 o'clock; afternoon session at 2 o'clock; evening session at 7:30. Among those who will conduct interesting features of the program are Rev. M. L. Cook of Merryall, Mrs. E. A. Howe of South Hill, and Rev. Carl Councilman of Camptown.

Concerning the Measles.

As there has been considerable misunderstanding concerning measles in regard to their effect upon school attendance, Principal Humphries announces that pupils from homes where the disease exists are not excluded from the schools; those who are ill must remain out two weeks.

HEEMANS ACCUSED.

Lorenzo and Robert Arrested for Counterfeiting.

ARE NOW AT BINGHAMTON.

Officers Follow up Clue Which Leads to Them and Molds and Bad Coin Are Found at Their Home—What Wife of One Says.

Lorenzo and Robert Heeman, former residents of Towanda township and sons of Hiram Heeman, are under arrest at Binghamton on the charge of counterfeiting United States money and having in their possession molds and metal for the purpose of making counterfeit coin. They are also charged with passing bad money.

With the arrest of the Heemans the police of Binghamton believe that they have landed on the gang that has flooded that section with spurious coin. Robert Heeman returned three or four months ago from Auburn prison where he and his colored brother-in-law, William Carter, alias "Billy" were sent for stealing copper wire. It was a significant fact that just after Robert's return counterfeit coin of various denominations began to circulate in Binghamton.

Friday night it was reported that a counterfeit nickel had been dropped in a nickle in the slot machine and a woman saw Robert Heeman putting a coin in the machine. The police arrested Robert and he admitted putting the coin in the machine but claimed that his brother Lorenzo gave it to him.

When he was arrested Robert told the officers that he has been sent to prison several times for crimes committed by others and that he is tired of it. He said he is ready to make a clean breast of this affair and tell all he knows about the counterfeiting.

He said that once when he was at Lorenzo's house he saw a counterfeiting mold there. The authorities were informed that Robert has told that one day he went up stairs to Lorenzo's work room and as he entered his brother dropped his hand to his side to conceal the counterfeit molds that he was holding. Mrs. Lorenzo Heeman, who entered the room at that time, is reported to have said to her husband: "I have told you to be careful of those things. Some day some one will catch you at it."

The officers went to Lorenzo's home and there found a mold, a counterfeit nickle and a cup with the bottom cut off. A crucible was found about half full of metal which had been melted. The mold was an ingenious one and such that it could be changed to make different sized coins.

Lorenzo Heeman denied any knowledge of counterfeiting after the mold and other articles were found, and said that he had no knowledge that they were in his room. He said he thought Robert must have hidden them there without his knowing it.

The prisoners are represented by A. T. Stewart, Esq., formerly of Towanda, and a hearing is fixed for March 16.

EVANGELIST DAVIDSON AND HIS WORK HERE.

His Meetings in Towanda Are to Begin on Sunday.

The evangelistic meetings, to begin next Sunday in the Presbyterian church, will be conducted by Rev. E. E. Davidson of Newtonville, Mass. Mr. Davidson has been engaged for over 20 years in this special work, mainly in New York and New England, and has won everywhere the love and esteem of Christian people. His praise is in all the churches where he has labored. In the fall of 1885 he conducted meetings for six weeks in Towanda and a great revival followed. Large numbers were added to the churches.

Mr. Davidson is particularly successful in his work among men. He has a pleasing personality and great tact in dealing with individual peculiarities. His preaching is simple, scriptural and fervent. He is far removed from all sensationalism. No sectarianism is ever introduced into his meetings. He is a preacher of the glorious gospel of the Son of God, and nothing beyond has any place in his services.

This winter Mr. Davidson conducted a series of meetings at Athens with excellent success. His work everywhere this season has been greatly blessed. It is hoped that his meetings here, following so closely upon the very successful work of Mr. Yatman, will serve to extend and deepen the religious feeling in the community.

Mr. Davidson will preach in the Presbyterian church both morning and evening of next Sabbath, March 19. In the afternoon at 4 a special meeting for young people will be held in the same church, to which all the young people of Towanda are cordially invited. On Monday afternoon at the close of the schools, a service to children will be held. Where no special services are appointed the meetings each day will begin at 4 and 7:30 p. m. All seats are free. Everybody is invited. Gospel hymns will be sung, many of them new and taking.

These services, though held under the general direction of the Presbyterian church, are intended to be for the good of the entire community. All the people of Towanda and vicinity, whether connected with the church or not, will be cordially invited. All ministers are invited to attend and assist as the way may be opened. In the name of Mr. Davidson the earnest prayers and co-operation of all Christian people is urged.

Base Ball Meeting.

A well attended meeting of those interested in base ball was held in the grand jury room Tuesday night. It has practically been decided to hold a fair and a committee for this purpose will be appointed by the president. A committee consisting of Edward Walker, J. H. Humphries and O. L. Smiley was selected to see about securing players.

A week's snow blockade compelled the burning of some forty cent corn in place of coal in some western communities this winter.

If one can raise one ear of corn on each hill weighing one pound, which is a nice big ear, the yield of corn per acre will be about thirty-eight bushels. If he can raise two such ears to the hill— But we will let you do the rest of the figuring.

We noticed recently twenty or more sheep busily engaged in eating hay from the top of a haystack. On general principles we would not be afraid to make a bet that there was a good sized mortgage on that farm.

A man, just a common sort of farmer, whom we know received $72.65 for the cream product of his nine cows during the month of January. Of course these were good cows, well cared for, but that is the only way to run a dairy. What this man did thousands of others might do and don't.

Some attention is being turned to catch crops for their value as fertilizers following crops of small grains. Considerable success is reported where soy beans or cowpeas are sowed, disked in on the stubble just as soon as the field is cleared and then plowed under before the frost destroys the crop. It costs about $2 per acre to give land this extra treatment, and the investment is returned, with good interest, in the crop of the following year.

A great fuss has been made over the discovery of a very large diamond in South Africa, said to be worth a matter of $2,000,000, but there is a county up in north central Wisconsin, which only a few years ago was a wilderness of brush and pine stumps, which the past year sold dairy products of a value of over $2,000,000, and, what is better, will do it every year right along. When the lumbermen left it, it was a diamond in the rough, sure enough.

A new ship, the Minnesota, recently sailed from a Pacific coast port for the occident carrying 26,000 tons of American produce and merchandise. The great capacity of such a vessel is best understood when we say that it is capable of transporting the product of 210 well conducted quarter section farms, allowing each farm to produce seventy-five tons of hay, eight tons of pork, four tons of beef, two tons of butter, twenty tons of corn and ten tons of oats and potatoes.

All land, river bottoms and the like which is subject to periodical overflow is far more profitably kept as a permanent blue grass pasture than to attempt to cultivate it and take the chance of a crop of corn or other grain once in two or three years. Such a blue grass pasture when properly used will pay a larger net return each year than the average acre of the farm which is cropped. Assuming the season to be a favorable one for the growth of grass, an acre of such blue grass will produce at least $8 worth of beef, and this is almost all net profit.

The greater portion of the prairie west may as well accept and face the fact that for half a century at least the dirt road will be the common highway of the country. This dirt road is for a period of at least eight months in the year the best road in the world and the money and work spent on the roads should be with reference to making it as passable as possible for the other four months. This will be best accomplished by thorough drainage and frequent leveling. The $5,000 a mile macadam highway is an impossibility from a financial point alone.

Nature's method of restoring lost fertility to wornout lands is through the medium of grass and trees. It is a slow process and may be seen in operation on countless thousands of acres in the east and the south on lands which were once wheat and cotton fields. On most of this land she works by the tree method, covering these depleted and starved acres with conifer and deciduous trees, with vine and shrub. Little by little humus and fertility are restored to the soil, and at the end of seventy-five years the forest may be again removed and man go into the soil robbing business again.

No one thing will help the cause of good roads more than the development of a local public spirit among the members of the community which is directly interested in such improved highways. As it is too often now, a small break in a bridge which any man could fix in five minutes causes the discoverer to travel three miles to get a road boss to fix it at an expense to the district of a dollar or more. The public spirit which we refer to would have made the man fix it himself and made no fuss about it. Some day men who own good farms—some are already doing it—will take a real pride in the highways which border their farms and will cheerfully give of their labor such work as is needed to keep them in good condition. A good example in this line is a great factor in influencing any community, for it is true that a good example is just as contagious as a bad one.

THE COLLEGE BOYS ON THE FARM.

We have noted a score or more of instances the past year where farmers' sons after taking a course at some agricultural school return to the old farms and put into practice the knowledge obtained. In almost every case these boys make as radical a change in farm conditions as does the introduction of good blood into the stockyard. They raise bigger and better crops right off. They pay much attention to the matter of seed. They plan and put into operation a proper rotation of crops. They organize local farmers' clubs, are invaluable helpers in all farm institute work, are wide awake and progressive in all that pertains to agriculture as a business and chock full of a contagious enthusiasm. The mossbacks have to come to them to learn, for grandpa's way can't argue with better stock and bigger crops as evidence of the value of such a collegiate training. They are getting in their good work in nearly every farming community and are the evangelists of that better and more progressive type of agriculture which bids fair to come to all the country.

The corn root worm rarely troubles the corn where corn is grown at the rate of sixty bushels per acre but once in a four year rotation of crops on a good clover sod. This pest is the penalty of growing corn on the same land year after year.

The sheep men are having their innings these days. Contracts for the new crop of wool are being placed at higher prices than for many years—23 to 25 cents—while mutton is the one meat which has not shared in the general decline in value of all other meats.

Money is not made on any farm very rapidly, and never without plenty of good hard work, which is the reason why so many young men dodge the farm if possible. The successful farmer will accumulate money slowly, but safely and surely, and he will further always see to it that his soil is not depleted, but rather made more productive each year.

A farmer in northern Iowa was very desirous of securing an outlet for the water in a pond hole on his farm, but the only way in which this could be done was by way of his neighbor's land, who most vigorously opposed the plan. A ditch or drain four rods in length would do the work, but the pond remained a nuisance because of the latter's opposition. A muskrat prowling around took it into his head to drain that pond and bored out the dam, releasing the water, greatly to the pleasure of the owner and the profound disgust of his neighbor.

An article in an agricultural journal referred to the habit of hibernation as characteristic of the rodent family. We hardly think that this statement is justified. While many members of this family will remain in their homes during extreme cold weather, they can hardly be said to hibernate. The rabbit, the squirrel, the rats and mice are active all winter long. The gopher, chipmunk and ground hog do hibernate after a fashion, but hardly in the same manner that does the bear. Field mice are just as active in winter as during the summer and usually in conjunction with the rabbit do more mischief during the winter than at any other season, as many a man finds out who does not properly protect his fruit trees.

The corn which was saved for seed last fall all through the western country was unusually full of water—nearly one-third water—when gathered. Unless special pains were taken to thoroughly dry out this corn before cold weather there will be found this spring a large per cent of defective seed. A test of selected ears taken from a crib of what would be called well matured corn in southern Iowa, in the very heart of the corn belt, gave when tested recently a germinating power of only 10 per cent. The fact is that the intensely cold weather of this winter has about ruined the seed corn where it was either not previously well dried or kept where it would not freeze. This matter should be attended to right now. Better find out now whether the seed is poor than do it on the 15th of next May, after it is planted.

A problem on the farm in these days of scarce and high priced labor worth constant study is how to substitute the horse for the man. The horse one can get and keep; the man one can sometimes get and want to get rid of. The manufacturers of machinery are helping the farmer out on this line in many ways with the manure spreader, the two and six horse cultivator, disk, plow and drag, with the two row corn cultivator and other tools which easily double the effective working ability of a man. Up to date farming is becoming more a question of intelligent manipulation of intricate machinery and intelligent direction and management of farm work than physical labor. Thus it is a good investment to send your boy who is to become the farmer of the future to take a course in farm mechanics at some agricultural college.

It is one thing to get the good cow, another to give her proper accommodations and care, but the most important thing of all is to learn how to feed her so as to get her to do her best work at the pail. On an average we believe that there is a loss of not less than 33 per cent in the butter product of our western dairies owing to the one thing of giving the cow an improper and unbalanced ration. Corn is the thing on which cow keepers fall down. It is not a milk producing ration, and the more the cow eats the worse she is off. Corn fodder is a fair milk ration; corn silage a still better one, but still unbalanced, and must in either case be balanced up with clover hay, bran, oilmeal, gluten feed or oats and, best of all, alfalfa hay. If the farm produces little but corn, sell it and buy these other feeds if the cow is to be made profitable.

INCREASING THE FARM INCOME.

A man owning a 160 acre farm writes us that his average gross income from his farm, taking a series of years, is about $8 per acre and wants to know if there is any way practical and available for him to increase this really very small income. He has for many years been what is called a raiser of grain and hay to sell, keeping but little stock. As a result he has greatly impaired the fertility of his soil, and forty bushels of oats and corn to the acre and a ton of hay to the acre are about all he gets even with fairly good seasons. There are so many men in this fix all over the country that it justifies a somewhat extended comment by us. The system referred to is all wrong. It goes from bad to worse each year it is continued. There must be a radical change. In this case, which may be taken as a type, there should be from twenty-five to thirty acres of clover sown this spring; there should be a hog pasture fenced off and at least fifty hogs kept; a dairy of sixteen cows should be set to work on the farm, and coming right with these cows will be the calves and the pigs; half the acreage of corn should be planted and twice as well cared for as ever before; every mouthful of hay and every kernel of grain produced on the farm should be fed to some animal right on the farm; a system of crop rotation should be adopted which will include clover every fourth or fifth year. While it will take three or four years to get these reforms all brought about, we will guarantee the result to be that in the end the yield of crops will be nearly doubled and the income correspondingly increased. Thousands of men have done this, and other thousands are now engaged in this reform work, and we have never known the plan to fail. But some may say they do not like to take care of a dairy—too much bother. Well, then, try sheep or raising beef animals, and if neither of these variations of the plan appeals to you the best thing you can do is to sell the farm and go to town and run for supervisor.

THE RAILROADS AND THE PEOPLE.

In the present controversy being waged between the people and the railroads over the matter of transportation it is not so much a matter of rates as it is discriminating charges, the favoring of certain towns and interests and the consequent discrimination against other communities and individuals. While the railroads are and should be protected in an unquestioned title to their respective properties, there is this difference between them and a purely private business in that the public, having bequeathed them the most valuable franchises in the whole country and with such franchises bestowed extraordinary powers and privileges to promote and secure a great public utility and necessity, has thereby acquired an inalienable and important interest in such roads, which gives it every right to demand absolute fairness and impartiality in their management. This right the people have been rather backward and slow to assert and possibly never would were there no just causes for complaint. As it is, the people are waking up, and such peaceable and equitable adjustment will be secured without doubt as will insure entire impartiality in the administration of the roads. Their power is so omnipotent and so far reaching in the making or the marring of the business success of communities and individuals that nothing short of absolute equity for all will ever satisfy the American people.

CAPONS.

The production of capons should receive more attention than it does from our poultrymen. Capons were quoted on March 1 at 14 cents per pound, and the old roosters, which they are the representatives of, at 5 cents. The capons will also weigh at least one-third more than the roosters and have been bringing the producers an average of $1.25 apiece this winter. The caponizing of the young birds is not a difficult task when once learned. The Asiatic breeds, such as the Cochins, Brahmas and the Rocks and the Wyandottes are the best breeds for this purpose. Capons will bring in the market almost as much as an average turkey, and they are not half the bother to raise.

We note with pleasure that Nebraska tree growers are offering catalpa fence posts for sale. This is the beginning of what should be a large industry in that state.

Nature is queer in her way. Here she works for 500 years to grow some monarch forest tree, only to shiver it to atoms in the infinitesimal part of a second by some lightning bolt.

The best man cannot make very much of a show with only a thousand dollars to spread over seventy-five miles of road in a township, so it is not best to be too critical of his work.

THE IDEAL HOME.

Paper Read by Mrs. W. W. Brooks of East Troy, Before Pomona Grange.

When we pause for a moment to consider the fifteen million of homes which are dotted in picturesque beauty over the land scape of the United States, we are surprised to find that not more of them may be truthfully described by the adjective "ideal." From the fact of the assertion that environment contributes largely to happiness, we would first consider the situation of our homes.

A substantial house with modern equipments, situated in the midst of a sloping lawn abundantly supplied with shrubbery and shade trees, through whose branches God's own sunshine may enter the home, producing a lasting effect upon the inmates, for it may be suggested that we women of the twentieth century need a vast amount of natural sunshine in order that our lives may radiate the artificial. During the proper season our lawns may be brightened by blooming plants.

In the furnishing of the home the kitchen utensils should not be sacrificed in order that the parlor and guest chamber may be embellished with luxuries. The cook needs every convenience which thought has provided to assist her in the manifold tasks which it is her duty to perform. Let us hang pictures in every room. They are restful. The keynote of twentieth century housekeeping and home-making is to eliminate labor from the lot of the overworked mother. Blessed is the home where a bedroom on the first floor has been provided. How many steps are thus saved, especially in times of sickness. Wood and water, those time-honored elements so essential to home, should occupy a convenient place in the ideal home, for no one but the person who has experienced the trying order knows the state of affairs, when just at the dinner hour she finds the pail empty and the well or spring nearly if not quite, a day's journey from the house; and the good man who has just joined the store-box club wisely engaged just at that moment exchanging ideas relative to the controversy existing in the W. C. T. U., or on the subject before the club as to which goes the fastest, the top or bottom of a wagon wheel, and who we know will be home to dinner just on time and in a great hurry, as he has to go to mill or perhaps attend grange. But who never thought of the thousand and one steps the woman has to take, or gave a thought to the water pail. Then is when we need to be as meek as Moses and as patient as Job.

It has well been said that a woman who kneads the bread with energy, mends rents with cheerfulness, nurses the sick with smiles, puts witchery in a ribbon and genius in a stew, is the one to preside in an ideal home. The ideal home should be a partnership affair, where love cancels all liabilities and both members are needed to make it a successful enterprise. Each member must have mutual confidence in the manipulation of domestic affairs, so there will be no friction in the working of the household machinery. The harmony of rotation will be perfect and an ideal home life, secure from unkind criticism, which we are frequently subject to, will be secured.

The home idea originated in the placing of Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden, because it was not good for man to be alone. But, alas, how many an Eden fails to obtain that consumate happiness attributed to an ideal home because an Eve has never been invited to participate in the joys and adversities of such an institution.

We should improve our opportunities, teach our children vital lessons of a law abiding and honorable character. When the days come that they must assume the responsibilities of life, our influence will have rendered them the better fitted to lead influential lives. Happy and partially ideal is the home in which gossip is prohibited. It has well been said that some forget that those who make the least noise do the most work. An engine that expends all its steam in whistling has nothing left with which to turn the wheels. Then let us cultivate silence. All that we can save in noise we gain in power. In this way the home will be benefitted.

An ideal home should have plenty of good literature and the refining influence of music. The man who can sing "Home, Sweet Home," and mean every word of it is an inmate of an ideal home. Make it the pleasantest spot on earth to the children. Many of us who are not ready to be called old can remember when many good people were shocked if an innocent game was brought in the home. They called it sinful. Happily for old and young this view has passed away and in the best and most ideal homes games and literature find a place. There can be no doubt that men and women live better lives through home amusements, and children who are permitted and encouraged to enjoy the healthful and innocent games cling closer to their homes. They are not so quickly led into temptations, and parents will do well to join them in their amusements and have an active interest in all that concerns them.

Then be considerate, for surely the members of our own family are entitled to as much consideration as our friends or guests; kind words and gentle acts make the ideal home. Courtesy is an essential element in order that the home may be described as ideal. We are indebted to those who are kind to us in our own home and the value of its influence extends far beyond the home circle. We may increase the sum of happiness in the world by requiring courteous actions on the part of the children. Then be cheerful. The darkest cloud has a silver lining. Cheerfulness is an essential element in the make up of a happy home.

Have patience with the little ones. Be neat. The humblest little home can be as neat and clean as the finest mansion in the world. The housewife who is striving to make her home beautiful should not be forgetful of herself. No matter how beautiful her home may be, if she neglects her own appearance her labor will have been in vain. Woman should be, herself, the noblest ornament of the dwelling. Finally, no home can be ideal in which the true spirit of christianity has no place. Each member of the household must be animated with the earnest desire to be helpful, kind, and considerate to all the loved ones in the family. Where there is true mutual affection, where each seeks to share the burdens of the others and thus lighten them; where all—husband, wife, father, mother, brother and sister are united in love and sympathy, that is where the ideal home is found. It matters not whether it be a palace or a cottage; whether blessed with abundance or burdened with deep poverty, the home in which piety dwells is the real, ideal American home.

Letter to Frank Miller,

Towanda, Pa.

Dear Sir: Here's a story with a point to it.

Devoe lead-and-zinc is a cheaper paint than lead-and-oil; costs less, goes further, wears twice as long. But this last don't belong to the story we're going to tell this time.

One of the best painters in Uniontown, Pa, is L O Rutter; does all the best work. We told him Devoe goes further than lead-and-oil or mixed paint.

He said "I've known it for two years, and have increased my business by it. I take a job for less money than anybody else, and get my pick of the work. 'Don't give it away; for nobody knows how I do it.'"

The name to go by is Devoe.

Yours truly

FOR REGISTER AND RECORDER

In asking the support of the individual voters as a Republican candidate for the office of register and recorder I respectfully request you to consider among other reasons the following:

A lawyer can serve the people better in that office than one who is not.

I have voted and worked for Republican success nearly 35 years.

I have always advocated the enactment of just laws for the equalization of taxes and for the protection of the laboring man; and

If elected I promise to use my best efforts to discharge the duties of the office with fidelity and care.

I shall be very grateful for your support at the Republican primaries on June 10, 1905.

The commission in charge of the Pennsylvania exhibit at the St. Louis exposition returns to the state treasury the neat sum of $53,000 out of the $300,000 appropriation. Is the millenium approaching?

Judge Trexler of Allentown gave the fair association a good drubbing for permitting gambling. He wants the gamblers not only spoken to but arrested and made to pay the penalty for their crimes.

The two bright evening stars seen in the western sky are Venus and Jupiter. The former will be at her brightest on the 21st, surpassing Jupiter by more than a magnitude. These two sparkling planets of the sky are nearest each other now.

Insteps arched out of all proportion, dainty toes squeezed into deformity, are now to give way to more liberal shoes for women, and the next generation of maids and matrons will have larger feet if the edict proclaimed by leading shoe manufacturers in the country is effective.

The large attendance and the enthusiasm displayed at the annual dinner held by the Bradford County society of New York city last week Thursday evening indicates that no matter where a Bradford county man goes or how long he has been away, he yet loves the county of his birth.

The criticism of some of the great literary lights that the President's inaugural address is in parts almost an exact copy of some of Pericles' speeches merely shows that Mr. Roosevelt knows a good thing when he sees it. He couldn't have followed a better man than the old Greek patriot.

The Wilkesbarre Leader is very much incensed because upon the death of Charles Gardner, the head keeper of the Luzerne county jail, and almost before his body was cold, a number of men were at work endeavoring to secure the position. The Leader refers to the candidates in the gentle term of "political buzzards."

There were evidently no mush heads on that jury that heard the evidence in the case against Cassie Chadwick. Mrs. Chadwick showed herself to be as bad an adventurer as any man ever was and she deserves no pity that she so deeply violated all those ideals which her sex is supposed to possess. In fact the woman that sins in such a way must sin worse than a man under like circumstances for she is less prone to be tempted.

The hundreds and thousands of persons who never would have been converted and become regular attendants and supporters of churches are a fine testimonial that revivals do not merely excite and that conversions are not entirely irresponsible and vain. Those who backslide are many but they are no more than can be expected from human nature. It is not the manner of their conversion that is at fault but a fault of character. Many of the best men and women in the church today were converted in revivals.

The words of President Roosevelt as to the necessity of this country protecting immigrants as a safeguard to the future of the United States is eminently sane. He could, however, have gone a step farther and said that when they live in indescribable filth, any community should prod them with a sharp stick and when they make a practice of stealing anything they can lay their hands on they should receive stiff sentences. The foreigner comes to the United States believing that the streets are lined with free gold and that he can do as he pleases. The quicker the foreigner gets this out of his head the better. This will protect the immigrant from himself and will also protect the future of the United States.

NEW BUTTER MAKING.

A committee of the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia has just made public its report on the Taylor process for butter making. It is recommended that Mr. Taylor receive the John Scott medal and premium in recognition of the value of his invention.

In this new process sweet cream is poured into shallow pans the bottoms of which are covered with absorbent pads. These pads are composed of heavy white blotting paper supported on Turkish toweling, or some similar material, and absorb from the cream nearly all of its constituents except the fat. The cream fat remains as a layer on the surface of the pads and after several hours' standing it may be rolled off.

In this condition the product contains rather too much water and milk proteids; on this account, and because of the absence of salt, it does not keep well. If, however, the separated butter fat be worked and salted in the same way as the ordinary churned product the result is a fine grade of butter.

The process has the advantage of cheapness, since the pads may be used over and over again, lasting, it is said, for six months of daily use. The labor of churning is avoided, and, on account of the use of fresh cream instead of that which has stood to ripen for several days, the finished product keeps better than butter made in the ordinary way.—Chicago Chronicle.

The sacrifice of life in the Manchurian struggle, the neglect of the sick and the wounded owing to the length and desperate nature of the conflict, have startled the world. When one reads of such scenes on the battlefields of two thousand years or more ago one may well associate the sacrafice with the times. But such slaughter of human beings in this twentieth century holds out the theory that some element of barbarism will remain in the nation as well as in the individual no matter how civilized or enlightened.—Wilkesbarre Record.

James R. Garfield, of the department of commerce and labor of the United States, is getting all sorts of hot shot over his ridiculuous findings in regard to the beef trust. With meat never so cheap on the hoof and with it never so high in the retail market Mr. Garfield's finding that the great trust made a very small profit will need a great deal of liquid to wash it down. The next thing the public knows Mr. Garfield will be telling that the Standard Oil company is run at a positive loss. You'll have to hurry, Mr. Garfield.

Among the bills introduced in the state senate is one by Mr. Sproul, of Delaware, providing for a commission to arrange for the dedication of the new state capitol. The bill provides for a gala occasion. There is to be a "grand review of the troops of the state," and the President of the United States and the governors of the several states and other distinguished citizens are to be invited. The bill provides that the expenses shall not exceed $100,000.

"SAVED MY LIFE"

—That's what a prominent druggist said of Scott's Emulsion a short time ago. As a rule we don't use or refer to testimonials in addressing the public, but the above remark and similar expressions are made so often in connection with Scott's Emulsion that they are worthy of occasional note. From infancy to old age Scott's Emulsion offers a reliable means of remedying improper and weak development, restoring lost flesh and vitality, and repairing waste. The action of Scott's Emulsion is no more of a secret than the composition of the Emulsion itself. What it does it does through nourishment—the kind of nourishment that cannot be obtained in ordinary food. No system is too weak or delicate to retain Scott's Emulsion and gather good from it.

We will send you a sample free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

REVIVALS IN RELIGION.

A short time ago revival services were held in the Methodist Episcopal church in this place under the direction of Dr. C. H. Yatman. The meetings were not sensational but on the contrary were sane. That good was done in them there cannot be any doubt and if Dr. Yatman should return to Towanda he would be welcomed with crowded congregations from the start. Beginning on March 19 evangelistic meetings will be held in the First Presbyterian church under Rev. E. E. Davidson.

Every time that revival meetings are proposed a great discussion ensues as to whether they are best for the church and the community. This is not confined to the small town alone. In New York city there is objection made on the part of fashionable preachers in the matter of a great Lenten revival based on the plans which are now making these affairs so popular in London. The evangelists have had to turn people away from the churches by the hundreds.

Among the thousands who got in and the other thousands who were crowded out were representatives of all the myriad classes of London society. Members of the nobility and high dignitaries of the church took their chances with the rest. An army colonel was one of the first to go forward to the mourners' bench, and the Lord Bishop of London was among those who applauded. The evangelists' songs are being whistled on the streets by lips heretofore attuned to the profane airs of the music hall. Exactly what a New York parson finds in these remarkable manifestations to discredit and deplore is not plain. The same holds good in Towanda.

Governor Hanly, of Indiana, announces that he will appoint to office no man who drinks intoxicants. In taking this stand the governor says he is simply following the practice of firms and corporations which find it unsafe to intrust their affairs to persons who indulge in the cup that inebriates. Temperance appears to be becoming more and more a matter of business, and it is getting to be good business to keep sober.

Russell H. Chittenden, rector of the Sheffield Scientific school of Yale, says that he has discovered that men who cut down their diet to about one-third of their ordinary consumption increase in strength from 33 to 160 per cent in consequence in every case. He advises them not to drink milk when they eat meat because the milk shows tendency to collect in little indigestible masses.

Republican Presidential candidates are looming up with great rapidity. Vice President Fairbanks, it is said, does not wish to have that office prove his funeral and would gladly continue work for his country in the higher office. Among others mentioned are Secretary of the Treasury Shaw and Postmaster General Cortelyou. Then Elihu Root and John Hay have always been favorites.

A Buffalo woman has solved the servant girl problem. She does without one. In her stead she has hired a young boy. He cannot cook but he carries in wood, takes out the ashes, tends to the fires, carries out slops, cleans the walks, carries the coal for the day, washed the dishes, beat the rugs. This was in the morning. Then after school the boy comes again and does anything necessary.

The Philadelphia papers claim that there have been 10,000 converts to the christian faith since the wave of religious enthusiasm which is sweeping over that city first made its presence manifest. It has progressed so far without any direction or system except such as has been given by individual congregations and churches at their own services.

The Tamaqua man who thought he was the Japanese army had evidently been reading the war news carefully and the names of the generals too closely. With such cognomens as Oyama, Kuroki, Oku, Nedzu and Nogi to conjure with it is more to be wondered that so many of the population of newspapers readers are able to see things singly.

Very few movements can succeed without popular sympathy. The trusts have succeeded so far but are not without their danger of bustification. The street car strike in New York city did not have the sympathy of the public and it crashed like a piece of paper.

They want the boys and girls to stay on the farm in Oklahoma, too. A bill has just been introduced in the Legislature of that State offering the sum of $50 annually to any young man or young woman between the ages of 16 and 21 years so long as they remain on the farm and are actually engaged in agricultural pursuits.

Judging from the news accounts, the seems to be a microbe of counterfeiting in Bradford county and ex-Bradford county citizens. It is a deadly germ and rarely lets its victim out without a stiff dose in jail.

According to late news dispatches Representative J. Lee Plummer of Blair county is slated for the Republican nomination for state treasurer. His name will probably be the only one to go before the state convention in April.

By the burning of the American Cereal company's plant at Cedar Rapids, the breakfast food business receives quite a jolt. This was the largest institution of the kind in the world. The sad thing about it is that it will, undoubtedly start some one else up to make sixteen other kinds of food.

Governor Pennypacker may be a little rough on the press but he's sound on laws. There has probably been more rigid scrutiny of bills introduced and sent up for his signature. If there is any chance for misinterpretation of laws the governor sends the bill back to be made less vague.

Farmers in Tompkins county, New York, are being supplied with electric bells in their houses attached by wire to their mail boxes. The free delivery carrier presses a button and this notifies the household of his arrival. This would be a good idea for residents on the rural routes in Bradford county.

The extreme to which young college blood will lead its possessors is evidenced at Ithaca where Cornell sophomores in their efforts to capture and keep freshmen from their class banquet, chopped through the roof of a boarding house to secure two first year men who were hidden in the garret.

Dr. Torrey, the leader of the religious revival now going on in London, says: "It is as legitimate for a church to advertise to draw people to hear the Word of God, in order that they may get blessing, as it is for shops to advertise in order that they may draw people to buy goods." Dr. Torrey believes in advertising as an element in well-doing.

DEATH OF M. D. FANNING.

Prominent Resident of Springfield Succumbed to Pneumonia.

Melvin D. Fanning, one of the best known citizens of Springfield township, died at his home in Wetona on Monday night, after an illness of but one week with grip and pneumonia.

Mr. Fanning was the son of the late David G. Fanning and was born on the farm where he lived his whole life and died, on July 5, 1842. He married Mary E. VanKirk, who died Jan. 3, 1888. Of this union were born David J. and Miss Florence Fanning of Troy, and Lloyd M. Fanning, who lives on the homestead. Sept. 18, 1889, he married Miss Lizzie Hildreth of Ridgebury, who with one son, Cecil Earl, survives him. These brothers and sisters also survive: Ira S. of Wetona, Judge Fanning of Towanda, Mrs. J. C. Leonard of Martha, Neb., and Mrs. M. W. Smith of Wellsburg.

Mr. Fanning was a life long member and supporter of the Methodist church at Wetona, succeeding his father, who served 59 years as class-leader, in that position. He served in the Civil war as a member of Company C, Seventh Pennsylvania Cavalry, Captain Dartt's command.

Funeral services will be held on Thursday at 1 o'clock at the family home, with interment in the Wetona cemetery.

CHECK WAS FORGED.

Scranton Man Used Towanda Bank's Check and Confessed.

On Thursday afternoon the police at Wilkesbarre arrested a man on the charge of attempting to pass a forged check for $12.50. When arrested he protested his innocence but later under close questioning admitted that he had done so. The check was signed by William T. Davis and was drawn on the First National bank of Towanda. It was made payable to John T. Burke.

The man tried to pass the check at two different banks but they asked for identification. Later the man and a companion went to a pool room and played to the extent of 75 cents. Then the check was tendered in payment. The proprietor became suspicious and sent for the police. The man arrested finally gave his name as Christopher Boland. He claimed Scranton as his home but said that he had also worked in Wilkesbarre recently. No one has lived in Towanda by the name of Christopher Boland. The man evidently knew that William T. Davies, ex-lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania, lived here and used a blank check of the Towanda bank with Mr. Davies's name as maker.

NAIAD HOSE ANNIVERSARY.

Popular Company Will Celebrate Its Semi-Centennial in April.

Naid Hose, No. 2, at a meeting held on Saturday evening decided to observe the fiftieth anniversary of its organization on April 24, by giving an anniversary ball and banquet. St. Agnes hall has been secured for the occasion and the company proposes to make the affair one of the old time popular entertainments for which the Towanda fire companies have been famous in the past.

The banquet will be given in the dining room of the St. Agnes building, and a fine orchestra is to be secured. The various committees will at once get to work in perfecting the details.

The Naiad company was first organized on April 24, 1855, and has been in continuous existence ever since, going through the usual incidents of reorganization, and incorporation common to the life of fire companies.

Melvin Rockwell of Rome, while skinning a calf which he had just killed, cut a deep gash in the fleshy part of his left hand between the thumb and first finger. An artery was severed. Mr. Rockwell went to Dr. William Rice's but that physician was away and all the other doctors were out of town. Neighbors applied compresses and stopped the flow of blood as much as possible but not before the man had bled profusely. It was some three hours before Dr. Rice returned and dressed the injury which was a very deep one.

DEATH OF THOMAS GARTSIDE.

Prominent Resident of LeRaysville Passed Away Suddenly.

The death of Thomas Gartside of LeRaysville on Saturday morning last came as a thunderbolt from a clear sky to the people of that borough. Death was due to a sudden attack of heart failure which gave only an hour's notice to its victim. Mr. Gartside resided with his daughter, Mrs. H. Ward Beecher. He was in his usual good health, with the exception of not having fully recovered from a cold contracted several weeks ago, when he retired on Friday night after having spent the day and evening making calls among his friends. On Saturday morning about 3 o'clock he was attacked and Dr. Inslee was summoned but nothing could be done for the sufferer.

Thomas Gartside was born in England and followed the profession of a locomotive engineer in this country previous to moving to LeRaysville a number of years ago, and had reached the age of 77 years. He is survived by two sons, Frank of Winona, Minn., and Alfred of Michigan; two daughters, Mrs. Beecher of LeRaysville, and Ermina of Winona. Davidson Will Appear at Williamsport—Big Pile of Bogus Coin.

Secret Service Operative John E. Washer, who made the arrest, on Monday discovered in New Albany 154 counterfeit silver dollars which he siezed, and which are now in the possession of the commissioner. It is expected that further developments will be made and other arrests effected. It is the belief of the officers engaged on the case that the plot was of much larger scope than at first supposed.

TAKEN TO DANVILLE.

Lehigh Valley Conductor Yontz of Sayre Mentally Unbalanced.

William Yontz, a well known Lehigh Valley conuctor of Savre, was taken to the insane asylum at Danville Thursday morning by Commissioners Kinney and Harkness, and it is hoped that the treatment of skillful alienists may restore him.

Mr. Yontz suffered from a severe attack of grip a year ago and on his recovery showed symptoms of mental disorder. Up to that time he had been a faithful employe of the Lehigh and a man who had always received the highest respect of his fellow railroad workers. He was soon compelled to leave the Lehigh and last Summer his mental troubles became worse.

Last week for the first time he became violent and Dr. Cowell of Athens and Dr. Haines and Dr. Towner of Sayre after examining him decided that it would be better to place him in an asylum where he could receive proper medical attention and hope that he will be able in a few months to return home cured.

LEHIGH EQUIPMENT.

Rumored That Twenty New Locomotives Will Be Ordered.

There is a well defined rumor in railroad circles that President Thomas of the Lehigh Valley, will soon place an order for 20 new locomotives, ten each for passenger and freight service. The Lehigh Valley is receiving its share of the general prosperity and it is said, finds its present equipment inadequate.

During February 3,922,604 tons of anthracite coal were snipped by all collieries, as compared with 4,326,260 tons last February. For the first two months of 1905 the shipments were 8,331,179 tons, a decrease of 129,325 tons over the corresponding period of last year.

M. B. Wood of Sayre. Miss Edna Baker of Horseheads was bridesmaid and Jacob Eiffert of Ulster, a brother of the groom, was best man. A selection from Lehengrin was rendered by Miss Frances Baker. The conditions which the operation disclosed were far more serious than the physicians thought.—Evening News.

Struck Something That Burns.

The oil drillers at Skinners Eddy have struck a dark, waxy substance at a depth of over three hundred feet which, when ignited, burns freely. It is probably a sort of clay, permeated with petroleum. People there are on the qui vive with excitement for it is thought that a vein of oil may be tapped at any time now. Nothing would suit the people all over the county better than to learn that their foudest hopes have been realized.

Death of Mrs. R. F. Horton.

BIGLER JOHNSON APPEALS TO THE SUPREME COURT.

Man Convicted of Murder in First Degree Asks for Revision.

Bigler Johnson, the man convicted by the Bradford county courts for murder in the first degree for the killing of his wife, Maggie B. Johnson, at Macedonia, has filed an affidavit of appeal to the Supreme court at the Prothonotary's office in Towanda. This appeal is from the finding of the Bradford county court that the degree of murder in which he was guilty from his confession and by evidence should be raised from the second to the first degree.

It is known that Johnson's attorney's, William Foyle and Hon. L. T. Hoyt, have been considering taking an appeal ever since the finding of the court here. Nothing has been done as yet in the matter of argument for a new trial for Charles Johnson.

Deceased was a member of Bingham Post, No. 555, G. A. R., of Wellsburg, under whose auspices the funeral was conducted from his late home on March 8, at 12 o'clock. The large attendance bespoke the high esteem in which the deceased was held. Burial was at Wellsburg.

ARTIST CLARK.

Is Great at Engaging Board and Then Swiping Valuables.

Artist Clark, the man who boarded at Mrs. Pettes's on Washington street here and disappeared with an unpaid board bill and a watch, played the same trick at Norwich, N. Y., this week, getting out with a watch and $2.75 in money.

On Friday of last week a man giving the name of Clark and an artist as his occupation engaged a room at Dunmore, paying the rent in advance. Saturday morning he left early and with him disappeared a gold watch, $15 in bank bills and a diamond pin. Mr. Clark is evidently one and the same red headed man who worked his game here. His nice red head will probably illumine prison bars before long.

HAS TOWANDA PLACES FOR SUMMER BOARDERS?

Applicants Are Already Talking of Taking Houses.

Last year the Towanda Business Men's association started a movement to make Towanda a place of summer residence for people from the cities. Several hundred dollars were spent for advertising and there have been more persons made acquainted with Towanda in this manner than ever knew her before. The net result of persons who were directly reached by the advertising and brought to Towanda was not as large as was expected although if those who engaged quarters had actually come and not been prevented by illness the first year would have more than paid for itself.

As it was there were enough people here who were located by the Business Men's association to pay for the advertising appropriation although all did not come in response to the publicity campaign. This year a number of persons have already written to find out if there are vacant houses or places to secure board for this summer. Most of these are former Towanda people who have been more or less psychologically affected by the newspaper accounts of Towanda's scheme of making of the town a place for visitors in the summer.

There are several good sized houses which can be obtained to be rented entire. But what the Towanda Business Men's association now wants to find out are the names of people who will take roomers or will also board people. It has been suggested that if houses surrounding a boarding house would take roomers the boarding house could supply the meals. In this way quite a colony could be accommodated. Those who can do this should at once notify any of the three members of the summer resort committee, H. L. Holcombe, G. H. Boyle or C. L. Humphrey.

These gentlemen will find out how many available places there are and if there are accommodations enough they will use a small appropriation of the Business Men's association to get out a neat booklet of summer views and spend some money in city newspaper advertising. The work done last year brought Towanda prominently forward as a place for summer boarders and just as soon as there are places enough here that will take boarders the extensive advertising should be resumed. As long as only a few houses can be obtained the advertising will be accommodated to those who can be taken care of. All those who will take boarders, roomers or both should inform some member of the committee at once. Don't wait until the summer is over but "Do It Now."

OYAMA PURSUES FLEEING ENEMY

His Victorious Forces May Yet Capture Remnants of Russia's Manchurian Army.

IN TOUCH BEHIND TIE PASS.

Rumor That Japanese Flankers Have Outmarched Their Prey.

KUROPATKIN WANTS TO QUIT

Reported Already to Have Telegraphed His Resignation to the Czar—General Grodekoff, Governor General of Amur, Likely to Succeed Him—Peace Party Stronger In St. Petersburg, Though Government Declares It Will Never Yield—Emperor Calls a War Council.

St. Petersburg, March 13.—Little further Russian news was received from the front, but the magnitude of the catastrophe is now apparent to all here. Where the curtain has been slightly lifted the picture of the awful retreat makes people here recall the scenes depicted in Tolstoi's "War and Peace" or Zolo's "Le Debacle."

The Russians are nearing their Tie pass positions. Japanese detachments continue a northward movement from Mukden.

General Kuropatkin in a dispatch dated March 12 says:

"Fifty thousand Russians were wounded during the last few days' fighting.

"A Japanese force consisting of a division and a half are within a short distance of the Russian rear guard.

"The Second army is marching continually under the fire of the enemy who is advancing from the east and west."

A dispatch from General Kuropatkin dated March 11 says:

"The enemy is receiving considerable re-enforcements. Examination of the wounded and prisoners shows General Nogi had almost entirely fresh forces. The Japanese are always able to keep their forces up to full fighting strength because of the ease with which they are able to transport troops from Japan."

The war office admits that even the remnants of the army are still in danger. Field Marshal Oyama holds a magnificent strategic position. It is reported that Japanese flanking columns are in touch above Tie pass and that there may be a Sedan there.

No adequate estimate of the losses has been furnished, but with the units captured on the left unaccounted for the killed and wounded already total 65,000.

General Linevitch's army, although its units were scattered and confused got off with the fewest losses. General Kaulbars was the heaviest loser, leaving 28,000 prisoners in the hands of the Japanese. Kaulbars himself, with the remnant of his army, had a narrow escape. When the Japanese drove their wedge across the railroad above Mukden he just managed to pull clear by withdrawing south of the city and then moving northeastward into the mountains barely in time to avoid General Kuroki's columns, which were already at the Hun river bombarding Fu pass. According to the latest advices, General Kaulbars is being pursued and has not succeeded in extricating himself from the mountains.

General Meyendorff, commander of the First army corps, was wounded in the shoulder.

Czar Summons War Council.

Emperor Nicholas has summoned a war council at which the whole situation will be considered.

It is rumored that Kuropatkin has asked to be recalled, but there is no confirmation of the report.

General Kuropatkin assumed all the responsibility for his defeat, making no excuses except that the strength of the Japanese was miscalculated and refusing to place any of the blame upon the council of generals upon whose advice he determined to give battle.

Tokyo, March 10.—Field Marshal Oyama telegraphs as follows under date of March 10:

"We occupied Mukden at 10 o'clock this morning.

"The fiercest fighting continues at several places in the vicinity of Mukden.

"Our surrounding movement, in which we have been engaged for some days past, has now completely succeeded.

JAPS IN HOT PURSUIT.

Oyama Reports His Whole Army Moving on Tie Pass.

Tokyo, March 13.—Army headquarters makes the following announcement:

"All our forces have advanced north, pursuing the enemy in all directions and inflicting heavy damage, and they have defeated the enemy who attempted resistance at various places.

"Our forces have completely cleared the enemy out of the districts twenty-five miles north of Mukden and on Sunday were still pursuing them.

"The Russians abandoned countless carts of supplies and ammunition in the district for thirteen miles from the vicinity of Kaolitun, south of Chiulikotzu, west of the railway and sixteen miles north of Mukden.

"No time has yet been had to count them.

"One of the colors captured belonged to the One Hundred and Sixty-second regiment, from the Vilna district, which had been engaged in three previous wars.

"Our Sinmintin garrison has arrested a paroled Russian officer from Port Arthur who broke his parole at Shanghai and proceeded to Sinmintin.

"Additional stores intended for the Russians have been seized at Sinmintin."

RUSSIAN LOSS ENORMOUS.

Officially Estimated by Japanese at Over 155,000.

Washington, March 13.—Minister Griscom has cabled the state department from Tokyo under date of March 12 as follows:

"Official report, Japanese army captured 20,000 prisoners on the 11th."

Another official report, dated March 13, from Tokyo, reads:

"Russian losses over 155,000; 40,000 prisoners, 26,500 dead on the field and about 90,000 other casualties."

SPOILS OF WAR.

Vast Amount of Property Captured by Field Marshal Oyama.

Tokyo, March 13.—The first official dispatch giving estimates of the Japanese captures in prisoners and spoils of war was received from Marshal Oyama. The prisoners taken up to the time the dispatch was filed numbered more than 40,000, including Major General Nakhimoff. The dispatch adds:

"The spoils include two flags, about 60 guns, 60,000 rifles, 150 ammunition wagons, 1,000 carts, 200,000 shells, 25,000,000 rounds of small arms ammunition, 75,000 bushels of cereals, 275,000 bushels of fodder, 45 miles of light railway outfit, 2,000 horses, 23 cart loads of maps, 1,000 cart loads of clothing and accouterments, 1,000,000 rations of bread, 70,000 tons of fuel and 60 tons of hay, besides tools, tents, bullocks, telegraph wire and poles, timber, beds, stoves and numerous other property."

This dispatch evidently contained errors in transmission as to the number of guns and flags taken, as official dispatches received in St. Petersburg said the Russians had lost 500 guns and a score of regimental colors.

TIE PASS INVESTED.

Newchwang Report Predicts General Kuropatkin's Surrender.

Newchwang, March 9.—It is reported that Tie pass has been invested by the Japanese and that General Kuropatkin will probably be forced to surrender within a week.

The Russian center is retreating in great confusion.

The Russians have not been re-enforced from the direction of Harbin since March 1.

General Nogi's army made a forced march of twenty-five miles daily and, acting in conjunction with General Oku's army, surrounded 80,000 Russians in the direction of Tie pass and cut off their supplies.

The hurrying Japanese armies passed a division of the Russians without giving it any attention until the enveloping movement was completed, when they crushingly attacked the Russians on all sides.

REPORT FROM KUROPATKIN.

Says the Retreat of His Troops Was Extremely Dangerous.

St. Petersburg, March 12.—A dispatch from General Kuropatkin says:

"The retreat of the army was very dangerous and especially trying for those corps which were some distance from the Mandarin road.

"The Japanese penetrated far into the mountains in the direction of Tawan. They threatened our troops; but, thanks to extraordinary efforts, our armies are out of danger.

"The enemy cannonaded the route of our retreat from the east and west. The eastern Mandarin road was bombarded at two points near Tawan and the Pu river.

"Our troops are very brave.

"The reason the Japanese advanced so easily from the south is that the Hun river, which covered our position at Mukden, was frozen over.

"General Zerpitsky is wounded, but remains at the front."

Robbers Burn a Warehouse.

Williamsport, Pa., March 10.—Robbers set fire to a warehouse at Muncy, Pa., near here, and the structure, together with the stores of Jacob Per and Lewis Smith & Sons and two dwellings, were destroyed. The total loss is placed at $50,000.

One Killed and Nine Injured In Wreck.

Butler, Pa., March 12.—The southbound express on the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg railroad was wrecked near McCalmont Station, three miles south of Butler. One man was killed and nine injured.

MRS. CHADWICK LOSES

Is Found Guilty by Cleveland Jury on Seven Counts.

DEEPLY MOVED BY VERDICT

She May Be Fined $10,000 or Imprisoned For Two Years on Each Charge. Judge Wing's Motion For a New Trial Held In Consideration.

Cleveland, O., March 12.—Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick was found guilty of conspiracy to defraud the United States by conspiring to procure the certification of checks on a national bank when there were no funds in the bank to her credit.

She was found guilty on every count of the indictment upon which the jury was at liberty to judge her, seven in all.

The original indictment contained sixteen counts. Two of these were ruled out during the trial by Judge Tayler, and of the remaining fourteen one-half charged her with securing the certification of checks without having the proper entries made upon the books of the bank. Judge Tayler in his charge directed the jury to disregard these counts and consider only the remaining seven, which related to the certification with no funds on deposit. On all of these the jury found against her.

Under the law she can be fined on each count not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than two years on each count or she may be fined a maximum of $10,000 and also imprisoned for two years on each count.

SURRENDERING IN SQUADS.

Country About Kuroki's Headquarters Swarming With Hungry Russians.

General Kuroki's Headquarters in the Field, via Fusan, March 14.—The country is swarming with hungry, disheartened Russians, who are surrendering in squads to any pursuing Japanese they meet.

Most of the foreign attaches with the Russian army, including two American and English officers, were captured at Mukden.

The American military officers with the Russian army as observers are Colonel Havard, medical corps; Major Macomb, artillery corps, and Captain Judson, artillery corps, and, while the war department is not positive, it is believed that the latter two are the two American officers referred to in the cable dispatch as among the foreign observers captured at Mukden. It is said here that naturally the Japanese would not be willing that the observers be permitted to rejoin the Russian army. In all probability they will be accorded every courtesy by the Japanese commanders and given safe conduct to Tokyo. It is thought that the fall of Mukden will result in the return of at least the two American officers at Mukden.

TO CONTINUE THE WAR.

Decision of Extraordinary Council Held at Tsarkoe-Selo.

St. Petersburg, March 14.—The war council held at Tsarskoe-Selo, at which War Minister Sacharoff, General Dragomiroff and others were present, is understood to have decided the question of continuing the war in the affirmative. Ways and means were discussed, but decision on some points, it is understood, was reserved. The question of Kuropatkin's successor was also discussed, but the emperor has made no final decision.

Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch, second cousin of the emperor and inspector general of cavalry, is again mentioned, and General Gripenberg is said to be a candidate, together with General Grodekoff, but the weight of opinion of his majesty's advisers now favors General Sukhomlimoff, governor general of Kiev, who formerly was General Dragomiroff's aid-de-camp.

RETURN OF BATTLEFLAGS.

General Ainsworth About to Carry Out the Mandate of Congress.

Washington, March 14.—General Ainsworth, the military secretary, has been charged by the secretary of war with the execution of the joint resolution adopted at the last session of congress authorizing the secretary of war to return the civil war battleflags.

It is expected that General Ainsworth will act in this matter in a few days. He will send a circular letter to the governors of all the states known to be interested in the flags now in the custody of the war department informing them of the action of congress and asking their wishes with respect to the disposition of the flags borne by regiments of their respective states during the civil war.

There are about 544 of these flags and standards, about 100 being Union banners which fell into the hands of the Confederates during the war and were surrendered to the federal government at the close of the war. All of these old flags are now stored in the flag room of the war department and are said to be in a good state of preservation.

The March Magazines.

Gillard Hunt has written of "The First Inauguration Ball" for the March Century. The story should make interesting reading just at this time, especially when compared with the records of 1905's inaugural function. A new and interesting picture of the president is given.

Lippincott's Magazine for March opens with an admirable novelette from the pen of a United States Army officer, Captain Archibald W. Butt. It is entitled "Both Sides of the Shield" and is placed in the South at a period about thirty years after the War of the Rebellion. A young Boston journalist, in quest of "stuff" about the families of the old regime with which to regale his New England audience, gets right down to the core of his subject through a lucky encounter with a typical mintjulep Georgian "Colonel."

Madame, the magazine "For Women Who Think," published by The Ford Publishing Co., Indianapolis, has established a new record for handling an important subject by a monthly magazine. Gen. Lew Wallace, the famous author, statesman and soldier, died on the night of Feb. 15, 1905, and on Feb. 18, Madame for March, was issued, containing a full page story about the deceased General, with elaborate illustrations, including two views of the general's famous study.

The union has been quite active since filing the remonstrances against the hotels at this place. The fight for a no-license town has been on ever since Jan. 25. Some of the business men claim that it will kill the town to have no license, while the W. C. T. U. and many others claim that it is the greatest curse that could be placed here.

When it gets so a town cannot be run only on the axis of a beer keg or whiskey barrel it's time for the other side of the question to be considered. The W. C. T. U. are laying plans for more aggressive work and will do all in their power to drive the monster from the place. The next meeting will be held at the residence of Mrs. W. T. Is It Right?

Is it right that a property-owner should lose $12 to let a dealer make 50 cents? A dealer makes 50 cents more on fourteen gallons of ready-for-use paint, at $1.50 per gallon, than our agent does on eight gallons of L. & M. paint and six gallons of linseed oil, which make fourteen gallons of the best paint in the world, at $1.20 per gallon; the property owner loses just $4.20. Is it right?

It only requires 4 gallons of L. & M. and 3 gallons linseed oil to paint a moderate sized house.

NEW YORK FASHIONS

Pattern For Princess Front Apron by Martha Dean

Pretty aprons have been and always must be very important items in all little maidens' wardrobes. This season more aprons are worn than ever before, and many are the dainty styles to select from. For girls who have passed the age of the one piece suit the waisted and belted aprons are in great favor. These also take on the princess lines, and it would be hard to find a more suitable model. In the one shown here the full skirt is joined to a fitted back, while the fullness under the arm is joined to a band. Shoulder ruffles of embroidery or material add not a little to the charm of the design. Everyday practical aprons may be made of blue and white checked gingham, linen or madras. Brown holland aprons are especially nice for everyday wear, and by finishing with white or bright colored finishing braid the contrast is very pretty and takes away that somber, old fashioned expression of the darker shades of holland. Patern No. 4580. Sizes, 5, 7, 9 and 11 years.

Patterns For Lady's Costume Designed by Martha Dean

Possibly the revival of the quaint and old fashioned is responsible for the unprecedented vogue of the surplice or crossed over effects this season. The blouse is made on a fitted lining. The full outside portions may be stitched to the fanciful shaped yoke or collar or it may be worn unattached. The sleeve is a pretty model with big circular puffs above the elbow. The lower part of the sleeve is tight fitting and may be of lace or material. The skirt is one of the newest shaping—circular, in fact, on sides and back and with fullness gathered back of the narrow front gore. It is by far the best "full skirt" model to be had, for, while it is full and the required width at the lower edge, the upper part has very little fullness to dispose of. The skirt may be trimmed with ruffles, puffings or quillings. The illustration shows a brown voile with cream lace collar and cuffs. The surplice front is edged with velvet, over which is the lace applique. A brown velvet or leather colored cloth belt finishes the costume. Patterns Nos. 6208 and 6209. Sizes for waist, No. 6208, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Sizes for skirt, No. 6209, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28 and 30 inches waist measure.

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE BY CUTICURA

"No tongue can tell how I suffered for five years with itching and bleeding eczema, until I was cured by the Cuticura Remedies, and I am so grateful I want the world to know, for what helped me will help others. My body and face were covered with sores. One day it would seem to be better, and then break out again with the most terrible pain and itching. I have been sick several times, but never in my life did I experience such awful suffering as with this eczema. I had made up my mind that death was near at hand, and I longed for that time when I would be at rest. I had tried many different doctors and medicines without success, and my mother brought me the Cuticura Remedies, insisting that I try them. I began to feel better after the first bath with Cuticura Soap, and one application of Cuticura Ointment. I continued with the Soap and Ointment, and have taken four bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, and consider myself well. Any person having any doubt about this wonderful cure by the Cuticura Remedies can write to my address. Mrs. Altie Etson, Bellevue, Mich."

PECULIAR RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

Locomotive of Train Two Crashed Through a Box Car in Towanda.

A peculiar and altogether fortunate accident to Lehigh Valley passenger train No. 2, Eastbound, occurred a few rods above the Towanda station at an early hour on March 8th. A Westbound freight was backing in to the toy factory switch to allow passenger trains No. 5 and No. 19 to go by, when the air hose broke near the middle of the train, setting the brakes instantly. The squeeze threw a big steel frame box car from the middle of the train across the Eastbound track. This happened on the instant that No. 2 came tearing around the curve. Engineer Gorman had no time to shut off his power and the big engine crashed through the car, making kindling wood of it.

The engine of the passenger train was badly damaged, the cab being nearly demolished and the headlight and smokestack being carried away. No one was injured in any way. The accident happened about 2:30. The engine used on the Bernice branch local was attached and Gorman and his fireman continued their run on it. Trains No. 5 and No. 19 were delayed about two hours while the wrecking crew from Sayre were clearing the tracks.

Death of John J. Sullivan.

John J. Sullivan died at his home on Second street on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock, of consumption, aged 32 years. Mr. Sullivan was a plumber and had a position in Pittsburg. It was while there he had an attack of typhoid fever and while convalescing caught a severe cold which developed into consumption. He returned to Towanda about a year ago. Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Sullivan, he leaves two sisters, Miss Mary of Towanda, and Hannah of Washington, and two brothers, James of Orange, N. J., and Dr. Patrick Sullivan of Pittsburg. Funeral services were held Monday morning at 9 a. m. in the Church of SS. Peter and Paul; interment in the Catholic cemetery.

Postoffice Robberies.

Two daring burglars broke into the postoffice at Factoryville and Dalton at a late hour on Wednesday night of last week and at the latter place secured considerable plunder. In the Factoryville office they found nothing of value as the postmaster, Peter Walter, had taken all the stamps and cash to his home. In Dalton they blew open the safe and found, besides $100 in cash, a large quantity of stamps, which they carried away with them. Before leaving Factoryville the men stole a horse and carriage and in this manner carried off their plunder. The horse and carriage were found outside a church in Scranton, but there were no traces of the men.

Deadly Delivery Clerks.

All of Auburn is wondering just how it came about that two married women should run away from their homes, husbands and children, with two young men who had been delivering groceries at their respective homes. The two women lived nearby and were inseparable companions. The delivery clerks are much younger than the woman and it goes without saying that their earning capacity is greatly inferior to that of the deserted husbands, who are good mechanics. The husbands were the last to learn of the wives' shortcomings but they will remember longest.

Incendiaries at Laddsburg.

The dwelling house of Samuel Williams of Laddsburg, was discovered on fire about 6:30 o'clock on Thursday evening of last week, but the blaze was extinguished before very much damage had been done. Mr. and Mrs. Williams were at New Albany and the son was in Towanda at the time. On their return they found a box filled with cotton and saturated with oil which had been fired with the evident intention of giving the blaze a good start. There is no clue to the firebugs.

Sayre's Big Store.

The big department store of Reeser, Kessler, Wieland Co., at Sayre has been opened for inspection of the public and goods have now been put on sale. This store is five stories high and is said to be larger than any department store in Binghamton, Elmira or Wilkesbarre. The company will do a strictly cash business. There was a big crowd at the opening.

ONE MAN'S EXPERIENCE.

CUPID CAN'T BE COERCED.

Former Bradford County Man Unsuccessful in Getting a Wife.

J. G. Homet is a government guager, employed in a distillery in Union county, near Lewisburg. He is 58 years of age with gray hair, but that does not detract from his vivacious spirit, which appears to dominate his actions. Mr. Homet formerly lived at Monroeton, this county, but for several years was guager in the distillery at Benton, Columbia county, from whence emanates that McHenry so admired by many in this locality. While there he advertised in Bradford county papers for a young lady to do clerical work and make home happy, with a view to matrimony, but apparently met with no response.

A series of dispatches from Lewisburg, published in the Williamsport Sun, tell of Mr. Homet's further efforts to secure a companion for his declining years. Recently he inserted in a Philadelphia paper this advertisement:

"An active elderly widower needs a cheerful lady assistant, between twenty and thirty-five, to make an attractive home, to assist in light clerical work and copying reports and other writing, who will take pity on one thus left entirely alone. Object matrimony."

Soon he was deluged with replies from all over this broad land, and his spare time was taken up in considering the proposals and sending out photographs in reply. A young woman from classic New Jersey was the leader until he was shown the potograph and told the story of Miss Gertrude McCoy of Emilie, Bucks county. Miss McCoy is the young woman who it is alleged wrote under the name of Marter to the governor of Nebraska, asking him to select her a husband. Then, the newspapers have it. Mr. Homet was so taken with the Bucks county maiden that he was willing to close a bargain at once.

But next day things were different. As usual, it was the enterprising newspaper man that precipitated the muddle. He showed Miss McCoy the published views of the Union county man, and she turned him down cold.

It was not because he is of Pennsylvania birth, but because his birth happened fifty-eight years ago, while Miss McCoy's age limit is twenty-six years.

"'Good heavens. I want a husband, and not a father,' said Miss McCoy yesterday when shown a picture of Homet. 'You can tell him for me that I don't want to have anything to do with him, and that he need not bother his head about writing or coming to see me. There are too many young men running around loose. Why, I wouldn't marry him if was the last man on earth. You say he had a young woman in New Jersey in view until he saw my picture; well, you can tell him not to overlook anything on my account, and tell him to send this picture to her. I don't want it. Besides, I am already engaged to be married. This letter was just written for a joke. I don't want any husband on the correspondence plan."

In this resolve the young woman exhibits the sound sense expected in a healthy-minded American girl.

Stenographer to a Committee.

State Senator Robert S. Edmiston of Milan, is chairman of a committee of five senators appointed to visit the district east of the Susquehanna river in the state and report data concerning appropriations for state institutions, etc. Lester Pierce of Towanda, has been appointed by Senator Edmiston to be stenographer to the committee, and he left Monday morning to join the committee at Wilkesbarre.

Mrs. Morrow's Death.

Concerning the death of Mrs. John P. Morrow, the Duluth News-Tribune says: "Since Christmas Mrs. Morrow has been ill, suffering from a general breakdown. Sunday she was taken to the hospital and prepared for an operation which was performed Monday morning by Dr. C. A. Stewart. She rallied somewhat from the shock but subsequently began to sink, and passed away at the hour mentioned."

A Worthy Reply.

"Will somebody please chase the cow down this way:" asked a funny boarder at one of the hotels who wanted some milk for his oatmeal last Sunday morning. Seizing the cream pitcher and starting it down the line, the dining-room girl crushingly replied: "Please hurry the cow to where the calf is bawling."—Wellsboro Gazette.

MRS. DUNLAP ARRESTED.

Alleged House of Ill Fame Pulled in Towanda Township.

Mrs. Dunlap, who is alleged to have been conducting a house of ill fame in Towanda township, was arrested at about midnight on Friday by Constable King. The complaint against Mrs. Dunlap was made by John Wheeler before Justice of the Peace Charles M. Hall. It is said that when the officer went to the house he heard noises indicating a large crowd of visitors but that when he was admitted to the house the crowd had all made themselves scarce. Whether the prosecution will be able to produce any evidence will be ascertained at the hearing.

This interesting proceeding has been scheduled for the third Saturday of this month. The citizens of South Towanda have been alleging for some time that the house occupied by Mrs. Dunlap was not being conducted in an orderly manner and they are determined that the occupants shall move.

Saturday another complaint was made against Mrs. Dunlap for selling liquor without a license. It was stated Saturday that Mr. Dunlap was present when Constable King arrested Mrs. Dunlap on Friday night. Constable King goes out of office in May and it is said that before his term expires he is going to make it hot for all violators of the law.

Interesting Meeting Was Held on Friday, March 10.

The George Clymer Chapter, D. A. R., held its regular monthly meeting on Friday, March 10, in the grand jury room in the court house at 2:30 p. m. In the absence of the regent and vice regent, Mrs. Mercur was appointed to the chair. After roll call and reading of the minutes of the previous meeting an interesting program was given.

Mrs. Carter read an article on the Scotch Irish in Pennsylvania from Fisher's history. Mrs. Mercur read an article on the Welsh, supplemented by Longfellow's poem on Old St. David's at Radnor, Pa., also some anecdotes of Thomas Lloyd, first deputy governor of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Pennypacker read a short but interesting sketch of Ole Bull. Mrs. Means had the current events of the month. At the conclusion of the program a note from Professor Humphries acknowieging the picture of Washington presented by the chapter to the High school was read.

Sermon on a Bill.

We were shown a dollar bill at the Farmers' Bank the other day, bearing on its face the written words, "The last dollar of an ill spent fortune—wine, women, etc." It bore the imprint of truth, and its appearance carried with an air of tragedy which dispelled the afterthought of a hoax. How many thousand of young men could each year write the same words from similar causes. Young men with fortunes to make should heed the words even more than those who have fortunes to spend.—Montrose Republican.

Death at Laquin.

Mrs. E. LaPlatt died at Laquin on Tuesday night of last week after an illness of a short time. MILK ORDINANCE BECOMES EFFECTIVE ON MARCH 16.

Veterinarian Says That Every Herd Has Been Tested.

On Dec. 6, 1904, the Towanda borough council passed an ordinance requiring that all owners of herds from which milk is sold here must, within 90 days after the legal publication of the ordinance, produce a certificate showing that the herd had been tested with tuberculin and found free from tuberculosis and other contagious disease. The ordinance was published for the requisite ten days and notices posted. The time that the ordinance goes into effect is therefore March 16.

There has been a very general compliance with the terms of the ordinance. A veterinarian here gave it as his opinion that every herd whose milk is sold had been tested. Not as much tuberculosis as many expected was discovered but in one instance an entire herd was found to be affected and condemned. The prediction that Towanda would see a milk famine if the ordinance was passed has been realized in part but it cannot be said to be due to the ordinance. There is a greater demand for milk and cream in many places than can be met and butter made in this section is being prayed for by grocerymen here. This is not due to the milk ordinance.

The action that the Towanda borough council took was radical and it is far in advance of the times in many places. But there was well grounded suspicion that tuberculosis in cattle was rife in this section and the one case alone mentioned is sufficient to carry out the contention of council and the board of health. The fact that so many herds were found free from disease is encouraging and if tests are kept up at proper intervals and every cow that enters a tested herd is likewise tested the section around Towanda will probably be kept free from the dreaded tuberculosis.

Dr. L. T. Connolly tested the 16 cows of Miles Horton, 18 belonging to Horace Horton and nine of S. G. Barner at Hornbrook this week and found all of them free from disease.

AN OLD TIMER.

Towanda Bank Bill of 1841 Turns Up at Citizens' Bank.

The Citizens' National bank of this place received in its mail recently a Towanda bank bill issued on June 1, 1841. The bill is in splendid condition and the engraving clear and sharp. The bill was signed by J. G. Boyd, Clk. The bill has no intrinsic worth but as a curio it is valuable.

Offers have been made for it and the bank here will probably dispose of it in this way for the accommodation of the party who forwarded it from Philadelphia. Several times letters have come to Towanda asking if bills issued by the Towanda bank were of any value. It went out of existence in 1842, after a career of four years.

Mr. Newell Skeptical.

According to reports in Binghamton papers the contract for ties on the New York, Pennsylvania & Southwestern Railroad has been let to S. L. Benz, and the delivery of the ties will begin at Wyalusing and Dushore this week. It may be. Just what they want the ties for at Dushore, before any work has been done, is clear to a Binghamton paper, but it is concealed from us. What we would like to see delivered at Dushore is Dagos, dynamite and dump carts.—Dushore Review
